LubriSyn and NCHA: A real “joint” partnership

(Fort Worth, TX) – LubriSyn, the official joint supplement of the National Cutting Horse Association, recently increased its partnership with NCHA. LubriSyn is an oral supplement that replenishes natural hyaluronan (HA) joint fluid, keeping joints lubricated even through aging and exercise.

"We are proud to be the official joint supplement NCHA," said Dr. Steven Allday, Developer of LubriSyn and world-renowned lameness veterinarian. "It has continually been a beneficial union between a great product, such as LubriSyn, and the NCHA, an organization that upholds the highest standards for its partners and members. LubriSyn is proud to represent and support the best in the equine industry, and we are happy to continue this relationship."

LubriSyn's only active ingredient is HA. It is naturally found as part of the synovial fluid that lubricates and acts as a shock absorber for joints. Age and exercise can degrade levels of HA in both you and your horse, and LubriSyn offers a product for both. Visit www.lubrisyn.com, follow LubriSyn on Twitter, or "like" them on Facebook to learn how you, your horse, and your dog can benefit from LubriSyn, and check out the latest news and special offers.

The National Cutting Horse Association has more than 20,000 members from a wide range of backgrounds. Each year more than 2,200 NCHA-approved events are held throughout North America, with more than $43 million in prize money awarded.
