From its small grass root beginnings in 1946, to the stalwart, member oriented organization it is today, the National Cutting Horse Association has been and continues to be a trail blazer in the equine industry.

The heritage of the Cutting Horse and the NCHA have been preserved in this high-grade, museum quality Winchester Model 94. The receiver is completely embellished with engravings and the high-grade stock is uniquely checked for this rifle. The spectacular blend of nickel and 24-karat gold perfectly highlights the fine and graceful movement of a cutting horse working in a herd of cattle. The depictions are embellished with a 24-karat gold rope scroll and tassels. The hammer and bolt of the Winchester are polished and jeweled and the edition number, from 1 to 100 is engraved, certified and marked on the bolt. The trigger and loading port are 24-karat gold and the barrel bands are nickel plated.
